THROGS FROM U. S. VISIT SWITZERLAND

This has been the record-breaking season for American tourists to the beautiful little republic of Switzerland, more than 10,000 from the United States and Canada having registered at various hotels during the month of summer.

Never since the Alps and Swiss scenery claimed sightseers from all over the world, has America been so well represented, and this country now holds second place in the international record. Germany leads with a slight majority.

The invasion of Switzerland by Americans has led to a number of changes, and many Swiss hotelkeepers come to America regularly to study our requirements. Where baths and ice water used to be figured in hotel bills as "extra," they are now the usual thing, and caterers to the tourists are not a little more friendly.

The American tourist is regarded as a valuable client by the matre de hotel, not because he spends freely, but because he is a good "mixer." He continually asks questions of all whom he meets and in that way becomes acquainted with other guests, inspiring sociability and helping the hotel by breaking down constraint when strangers are together.

The immense number of Germans that go to Switzerland is naturally a great thing for the proximity of a great ocean intervening, the number of visitors is remarkable, and in view of the increase as compared with the years 1908 and 1909, this is really "American year."

But in the case of America, with a great ocean intervening, the number of visitors is remarkable, and in view of the increase as compared with the years 1908 and 1909, this is really "American year."

Major WILLIAM S. SCOTT, 14th Cavalry, is detailed to fill a vacancy in the adjutant general's department, vice Major GEORGE H. MOYAN, adjutant general, who is relieved from that department, to take effect December 1, 1910, and is assigned to the 14th Cavalry from December 8, 1910. Major MORGAN will proceed to San Francisco, Cal., to which assignment Major SCOTT will proceed to San Francisco, Cal. The resignation of First Lieutenant DAYTON C. WIGGIN, Medical Reserve Corps, has been accepted by the President.

Major CHARLES C. JAMIESON'S resignation from active service is announced.
